

Arkansas Tech University (Russellville, AR) Instructional Design Specialist

Position Summary:

Under the supervision of the Dean of the eTech College, Work with faculty and staff to design, develop, and deliver technology-based educational media and interactive learning experiences incorporating relevant course management systems, cloud computing/social media applications, relevant productivity and multimedia software, web development and curriculum design for distance learning courses. The Instructional Designer will collaborate and coordinate with faculty and staff who are tasked with providing quality distance education courses.

Essential Duties and Responsibilities:

- Managing individual and group projects.
- Developing and assuring quality standards for online courses.
- Working with faculty and staff to provide training and assistance with course development.
- Mentoring faculty on distance learning pedagogy and the use of technology to enhance teaching.
- Designing online modules, incorporating a variety of instructional tools, including HTML pages, graphics, streaming video & audio, and flash animation.
- Providing online instructor and student tutorials, as well as face-to-face training sessions and workshops.
- Coordinating and facilitating administrative aspects of course development, delivery, and support.
- Assist with planning and coordinating materials with the course instructor(s) and development team.
- Performing additional duties as assigned by the department.

Required Qualifications:

Master Degree in Instructional Design and Technology is required.

Applicants should send resume and cover letter Attn: contact Dr. Phillip Bridgmon, Arkansas Tech University, 1509 North Boulder Ave., Administration 200, Russellville, AR 72801-2222