History

The Wonder Boys

Jerry Charles Young III
CAMPUS AMBASSADOR

Golden Suns

What is the history behind the three figures representing Arkansas Tech University?

Arkansas Tech University has a rich history. The men's teams were originally called the Aggies but became the Wonder Boys in 1920. Women athletes were later named the Wonder Girls and Wonderettes before adopting the Golden Suns name in 1975.

While these names are meaningful, they lack visual representation. To address this, the university revived the tradition of Jerry the Bulldog in 2013. Although Jerry is not a mascot, he is the beloved campus ambassador for all Arkansas Tech students.

Arkansas Tech is a community united by the spirit of the Wonder Boys, Golden Suns, and Jerry the Bulldog.

Athletics

"Fight On!"

These are the first two words of the song celebrating Wonder Boys and Golden Suns student-athletes.

Their moments of glory are born far away from the crowds and bright lights; they're earned. In practice. In the weight room. In the classroom.

When the victory is secured and the trophy awarded, these student-athletes take our Fight On mentality into the community. For eight consecutive years, ATU has ranked among the top five nationally in community service. Tech's commitment to helping others is why we'll remain champions long after the final buzzer.
