AGS Director

Bruce Haggard

Congratulations to each of you who are now alumni of the 1997 Arkansas Governor's School program. I hope that your summer at the AGS has proven to be memorable, academically enriching, and personally rewarding. The program opened with an excellent address by Governor Mike Huckabee. He enthusiastically encouraged all of you to make the most of this unique opportunity. Later in the session, he answered questions from a panel of 20 AGS students on a live broadcast by the Arkansas Educational Television Network of "Arkansans Ask the Governor." Other provocative Featured Speakers such as Senator Dale Bumpers on Parents Day, the Amazing Randi, Dan Jarrell, Bertice Berry, Miller Williams, as well as Ballet Arkansas, and The Shakespeare Festival of Arkansas's presentation of "As You Like It" in the summer heat on the old library patio all become shared memories that each of you will take away from this summer's program. You will undoubtedly remember the content, sometimes heated discussions, and the open atmosphere of your classes in Areas I, II and III, as well as the fact that there were Saturday morning classes and strict curfews. The featured films, videos, 3:30 speakers, campus games, dances, variety shows, and time spent with new and diverse friends from communities all over Arkansas are all a part of the shared experiences. You might remember the failure of the AC in Veasey or the ever present Daihatsu's driven on the side-walks. But most memorable of all will be the intellectual freedom, the cultural experiences, the fantastic social environment and the great new friendships you established in the summer of 1997. We were a diverse group of people, but we were all working to better ourselves and our community.

The faculty and staff endeavored to provide a summer experience that would enhance your social, intellectual, artistic, and conceptual development. The curriculum, activities and events were designed to inspire your interest in the liberal arts and to teach you something about building a community. Your challenge has been to investigate various ways of knowing and to think about some of the most important issues of your generation. You have looked at many sides of various issues and analyzed their underlying assumptions and implications. Hopefully, you will leave the program with an alacrity for looking more deeply at all ideas as well as an enhanced ability to appropriately avoid simplistic errors of reasoning. The success and value of the AGS program will be measured not only by how much you have learned about your particular disciplinary focus in the arts or sciences, but also by how much you have learned about yourself and society.

You are among the very few in the United States to have experienced the unique, comprehensive residential program for gifted students that we call Arkansas Governor's School. As an alum, you have automatically become a representative of the program. Please take that responsibility seriously and remember to thank the taxpayers, legislators, your school administrators, teachers, and your parents for helping you get here and for providing you with the opportunity to participate. A special thanks should be reserved for Ann Biggers (Administrator of Gifted Programs at the Arkansas Department of Education) for her extraordinary efforts on behalf of the AGS this past year.

My hope is that each of you will be inspired to make it your goal to use the academic, cultural, and social opportunities afforded you by the taxpayers of Arkansas to advance yourself and your communities. I encourage you to take responsibility for your continued education, as well as for the condition of your community, wherever you find yourself. Our communities are a product of what we are willing to put into them, and an informed citizen is an asset to self, family and the global community. My charge to you, as you finish your final year in high school and make plans for your future, is to carefully order your priorities and to remember that the "life well lived" requires a zeal to understand, a self-disciplined mind, a good work-ethic, a strong sense of responsibility, and a zest for participation. I hope that your six weeks at the Arkansas Governor's School has been a spring board for a life long love of learning and culture.

The faculty and staff of the 1997 AGS wish you the very best. We count our opportunity to work with you a privilege. May you succeed in achieving the greatest of your aspirations!

Sincerely,
Bruce Haggard

AGS 1997

Area I

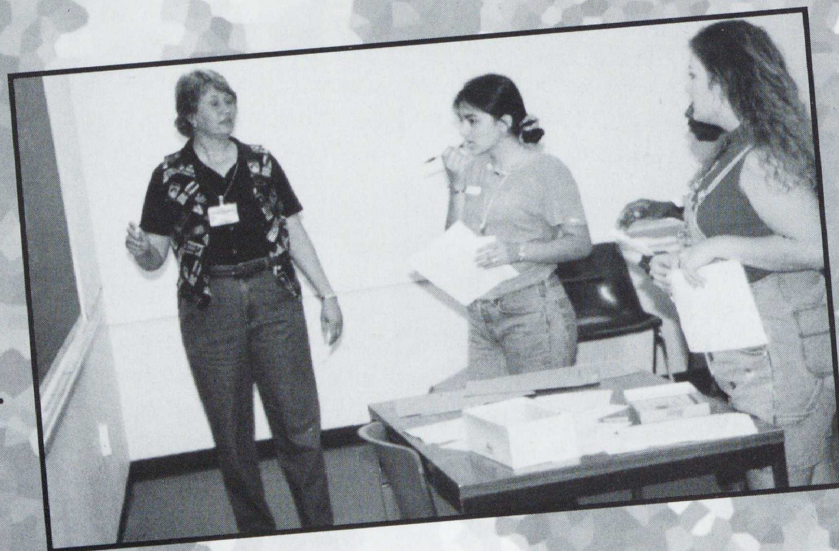

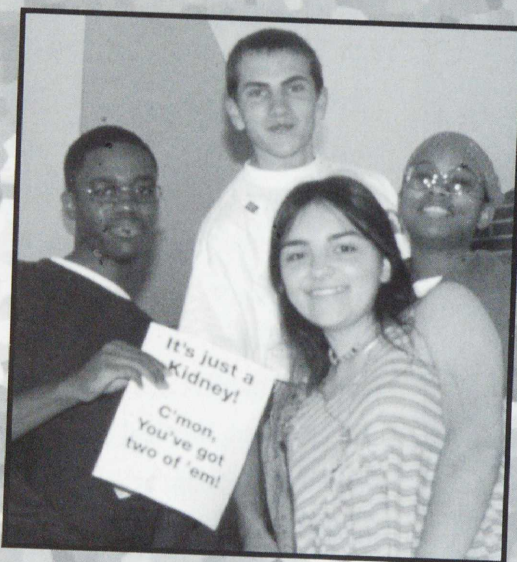

Area I embraces instruction in the performing arts of choral music, drama, instrumental music and visual arts, and course work in the academic disciplines of English/language arts, natural science, mathematics, and social science.

Emphasis in Area I is placed on participatory learning experiences which prepare students to enter and understand the critical systems that undergird the various fields of study. To this end, students examine new, challenging, and often controversial theories, techniques, and works — all designed to encourage them to develop a critical stance based on careful scrutiny of ideas and developments within their area of interest.

Alice Hines is the Coordinator of Academic Disciplines, and Michael Bates is the Coordinator of Performing Arts.

Area II

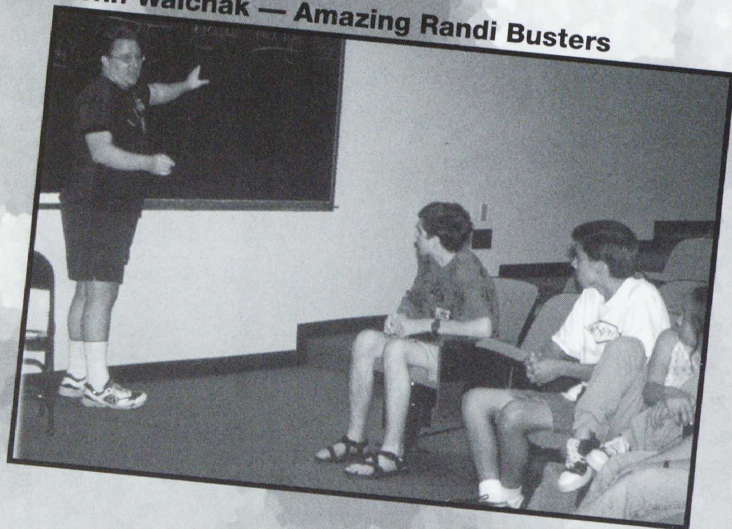

General Conceptual Development

Area II curriculum is designed to enhance conceptual development. Students are encouraged to learn more about how knowledge is acquired (epistemology) and to understand the various ways of knowing. In striving to increase their ability to analyze diverse perspectives of current normative issues, students gain a new appreciation for their implications. Classroom discussions then lead students to progress to deeper levels of intellectual reflection which enhances their ability to "think well."

Area III

Personal and Social Development

Area III is designed to foster the development of personal resources to meet the challenges the students confront as their knowledge expands and they encounter alternative worldviews. As part of an overall integrated curriculums of AGS, Area III attempts to create an environment of trust, confidentiality, and experience.

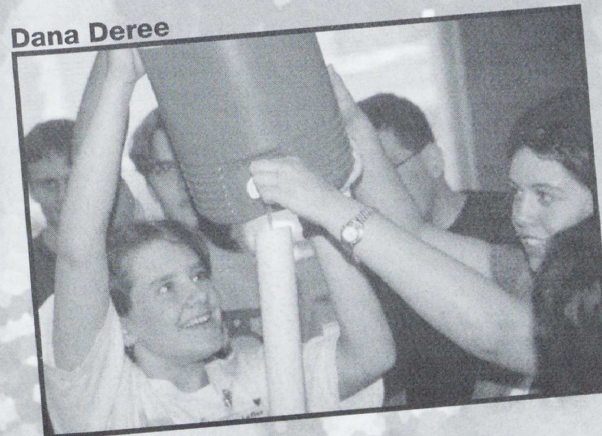

The goal is to provide students with insight into the nature of their abilities, the advantages these capabilities might provide, and the anxieties these aptitudes might generate, as well as make them aware of the societal responsibilities they have toward various communities to which they belong. In this way, students may be able to optimize their use of those abilities.
