
COURSE DESCRIPTIONS

ECONOMICS

ECON 6093: Special Topics in Economics

Course offers an in-depth exploration of selected economics issues affecting business. The primary focus of the course will vary from offering to offering; thus the course may be taken more than once. There is a required research project.

Note: Students are limited to a maximum of six (6) hours of special topics credit.

ECON 6103: Managerial Economics

Prerequisite: ECON 2003 with a C or better and ECON 2013 with a C or better.

The course emphasizes data driven analysis of domestic and global market demand, surviving in a competitive environment, pricing with market power, analyzing strategic interaction, and optimizing production processes.

$35 per SSCH course fee.