

Emergency Management Higher Education Colloquium

CALL FOR PRESENTATIONS

DEADLINE FOR PRESENTATION SUBMISSIONS: March 15, 2025 (5:00pm ET)

Date: June 3-4, 2025

Location: Virtual

The Emergency Management Higher Education Colloquium is a collaborative gathering for faculty, staff, and administrators dedicated to advancing emergency management and homeland security education. This event provides a forum to share research, discuss best practices, and explore innovative approaches to preparing the next generation of emergency management professionals.

Mission & Vision

Mission Statement:

The Colloquium fosters collaboration among educators and researchers to enhance emergency management and homeland security academic programs. Through insightful discussions and knowledge-sharing, we aim to strengthen course design, research integration, and the preparation of future professionals.

Vision Statement:

Our vision is to provide a platform for advancing emergency management education by addressing emerging trends, refining instructional strategies, and ensuring academic programs remain aligned with the evolving needs of the profession.

About the Colloquium

This year's theme, "Strengthening Emergency Management Education for the Future," highlights the need for adaptability and forward-thinking approaches in academic programs. It emphasizes how faculty and institutions can refine curriculum, teaching methods, and research initiatives to ensure students are equipped to tackle real-world challenges in emergency management and homeland security.

Key Elements of This Theme:

1. "Designing Educational Programs for the Future" – Developing innovative curricula and assessment methods to meet the evolving needs of emergency management education.
2. "Advancing Educational Excellence" – Improving teaching methods, course design, and student engagement to enhance learning outcomes.
3. "Strengthening Community Preparedness Through Education" – Connecting academic knowledge to real-world applications that improve preparedness and resilience.
4. "Innovative Approaches and Expanding Perspectives" – Exploring new teaching strategies, research trends, and unique viewpoints to advance emergency management education.

The Colloquium will feature a series of expert-led sessions, panel discussions, and presentations designed to foster meaningful conversations about the future of emergency management and homeland security education.

Submissions should fit within the theme and may address relevant topics such as:

- Scholarship of Teaching and Learning (SoTL) in Emergency Management
- Innovative Teaching Practices
- Bridging Practice and Research
- Ethics in EM & HS
- Technology in EM: Practice, Academia, and Research
- Future Direction of the Emergency Management Profession

Submission Guidelines:

You will be asked to include details pertaining to the presenters, type of presentation, and a brief summary of the presentation topic. Be sure to complete all required information fields. Carefully review and edit your responses prior to submitting your completed proposal. Incomplete proposals will not be reviewed. Presentations time slots will be for 45 minutes, which includes time for Q&A.

Compensation:

There is no financial compensation or travel expenses for presenters. There are no registration fees.

Review Process:

Each proposal will be reviewed by a group of academics, researchers, and practitioners. The review rubric addresses the following criteria: 1) clarity and completion of the submission, 2) interesting and relevant abstract/synopsis, 3) clear and meaningful objectives/expected learning outcomes and 4) a session outline/detailed description that is comprehensive, thought-provoking, and consistent with the stated abstract. Each submission will be notified of their acceptance, conditional acceptance or rejection by April 15, 2025.

In addition to completeness, each proposal will be assessed by an independent review committee against the following criteria:

- Relevance:
the proposal should demonstrate alignment to the conference theme and relevant topic;
- Clarity and Quality:
the proposal should clearly outline the topic that will be featured in the presentation as well as its main concepts/ideas. (Please quality control your proposal for spelling and grammar);
- Innovation:
the proposal introduces new ideas, methods, and/or approaches that promote new knowledge and have the potential to contribute to the field;
- Focus:
the proposal contributes to knowledge on broader issues of evaluation methods, theories, policies and practices that have value to a wide community in contrast to presenting findings of a specific evaluation;
