Cultural and Geospatial Studies

The degree program in cultural and geospatial studies draws from courses in anthropology and geography, providing students with skills necessary for careers in a wide-range of fields related to community development. These include regional and community planning, economic development, cultural resources management, heritage preservation, ethnographic studies, and geographic information science.

The cultural and geospatial studies degree requires thirty-three semester hours in major curriculum requirements beyond the required General Education curriculum. To satisfy General Education requirements, majors are required to take ANTH 1213 Introduction to Anthropology, ANTH 2003 Cultural Anthropology, and GEOG 2013 World Regional Geography. The thirty-three semester hours required for the degree includes: GEOG 2833 Introduction to Geographic Information Systems, ANTH 2833 Cultural Resources Management, and HIST 2203 Introduction to Public History. Those students completing the anthropology track will take an additional course emphasizing qualitative research methods (ANTH 3403 Ethnographic Methods) and an upper-level anthropology seminar (ANTH 3243 Seminar in Anthropology). Those students completing the geography track will take an additional methods course in geographic information science (GEOG 3403 GIS II - Planning Applications) and a senior level geography seminar (GEOG 4983 Geography Seminar). Of the remaining eighteen hours of required anthropology/geography credit, six must come from anthropology and six from geography. Twenty-one of the required thirty-three semester hours must be on the 3000-4000 level. Majors in this program are also required to take six hours of beginning foreign language courses or obtain the appropriate waiver for high school language study.

Provide an answer for each question. Your answers are to be typed single spaced.

- a. If this course is mandated by an accrediting or certifying agency, include the directive. If not, state not applicable. This change to require SPAE majors to take SEED 4809 Teaching in the Elementary and Secondary School instead of SEED 4909 Teaching in the Secondary School is a response to a mandate from the Arkansas Department of Education. We were notified by ADE on July 21, 2015 that our Letter of Notification describing this change was approved.
- b. Explain the rationale for the cosmetic course change. We are responding to the ADE mandate that Spanish Education majors be prepared to teach K-12.

Proposal for Change in Program
Assessment Form

Our Mission
Arkansas Tech University, a state-supported institution of higher education, is dedicated to nurturing scholastic development, integrity, and professionalism. The University offers a wide range of traditional and innovative programs which provide a solid educational foundation for life-long learning to a diverse community of learners.

Provide an answer for each question. Your answers are to be typed single spaced.
a. How does the program change fit with the university mission? The proposed program changes require History majors to take two courses in the sub-field of public history. The changes will deepen the scholastic development of students majoring in history and will strengthen their exposure to professional opportunities and professional ethics in the field of history. The proposed changes will provide a stronger educational foundation for life-long learning.
b. If this change in the program is mandated by an accrediting or certifying agency, include the directive. If not, state not applicable. Not applicable.
c. How will the program change impact learning for students enrolled in this program? The proposed changes will replace 3 hours of elective credit and 3 hours of UL history elective credit with 6 hours of history credit in the sub-field of public history. History majors will be expected to achieve a basic competency in the content knowledge of public history by completing an introductory course (HIST 2203) and one other upper-level course from a list of public-history courses. The courses will expand students' understanding of history by improving their knowledge of how historical knowledge is applied, preserved, and expressed in the public domain.
d. What will students demonstrate, represent, or produce to provide evidence of their learning once they complete the program? All students majoring in history complete the capstone course HIST 4963 Senior Seminar. Students in this course complete a research paper which is graded but is also assessed by means of a departmental "research and writing assessment worksheet." Students in HIST 4963 also take a content exam and a senior exit survey. These three measures will provide evidence of student learning. 1) The addition of the public history courses will strengthen students' methodological skills. This will be measured by the research and writing assessment (see attached History B.A. Assessment Plan, Objective 2 and Assessment Measures – Objective 2). 2) The addition of the public history courses will strengthen students' content knowledge of public history. This will be measured by the content exam which will be expanded to include questions about public history drawn from our current public history content exam for the B.A. in Public History (a separate but

Arkansas Tech University, 1000 University Blvd., Fayetteville, AR 72703-5000

cognate degree offered by ATU) (see attached History B.A. Assessment Plan, Objective 1 and Assessment Measures – Objective 1). 3) The addition of the public history courses will strengthen students' application skills. This will be measured by the senior exit survey (see attached B.A. Assessment Plan, Objective 8 and Assessment Measures – Objective 8).
e. Provide an example or examples of student learning assessment evidence which supports the changes in the program. We do not have learning assessment evidence to support this change. This change is driven by a departmental commitment to more strongly support our public history offerings and a belief that our students would benefit from a curriculum that more intentionally introduces them to public history.
f. How does this course fit in the current state of the discipline? Include Arkansas institutional comparisons. If Arkansas educational institutions do not have the course or program provide comparative examples from regional educational institutions. None of the following Arkansas universities have a similar public-history requirement for history majors: UAF, ASU, UALR, UCA. Thus our program at ATU will be distinctive. We are already distinctive in that we are the only university of the five noted here (ATU, ASU, UAF, UALR, UCA) that offers an undergraduate degree in public history. This current proposal seeks to take advantage of our public-history offerings to benefit our history majors. We believe this benefit will manifest itself in a more broadly applicable content knowledge and in more professional opportunities.
g. Attach a detailed assessment plan including three to five specific program student learning outcomes, means or instructional measures to assess each outcome, identify program courses where learning will be assessed, and performance standards or criteria for success which demonstrate student learning for each outcome. (Examples for assessment plans/curriculum mapping can be found at the Office of Assessment and Institutional Effectiveness web page.)

Arkansas Tech University
Proposal for Change in Program
Assessment Form

Our Mission
Arkansas Tech University, a state-supported institution of higher education, is dedicated to nurturing scholastic development, integrity, and professionalism. The University offers a wide range of traditional and innovative programs which provide a solid educational foundation for life-long learning to a diverse community of learners.

Provide an answer for each question. Your answers are to be typed single spaced.
a. How does the program change fit with the university mission? Currently, the B.A. in Political Science requires students to take HIST 1513. The proposed change will require students to take HIST 1503, HIST 1513, or GEOG 2013. With the change, the degree in political science will continue to nurture scholastic development and will continue to provide a solid educational foundation for life-long learning.
b. If this change in the program is mandated by an accrediting or certifying agency, include the directive. If not, state not applicable. Not applicable.
c. How will the program change impact learning for students enrolled in this program? The reason for the change is based on scheduling more than on learning. Students wishing to major in political science often have already taken HIST 1503 or GEOG 2013 and advisors have often substituted these courses for the current HIST 1513 requirement. Thus the program change better aligns the requirements with the reality. Having said that, the change will not have an adverse impact on learning. Students will still be introduced to global issues and international topics (the original intent of the requirement for HIST 1513).
d. What will students demonstrate, represent, or produce to provide evidence of their learning once they complete the program? Students majoring in Political Science take a content exam as part of their capstone Senior Seminar course. This content exam covers global topics and issues in international affairs. The results of the content exam will provide evidence of student learning in these topics. See attached Political Science B.A. – Assessment Plan, under “Overall Content” and “Content” goals.
e. Provide an example or examples of student learning assessment evidence which supports the changes in the program. Our proposed changes are based on scheduling evidence rather than learning assessment evidence. However, we will continue to collect learning evidence and, thus, we will be able to measure the effectiveness of the proposed change. See previous question.
f. How does this course fit in the current state of the discipline? Include Arkansas institutional comparisons. If Arkansas educational institutions do not have the course or program provide comparative examples from regional educational institutions. Henderson State does require its political-science majors to take both semesters of world history as well as a course in non-western culture. For most universities in the state, the courses addressed in this proposal are treated under Gen Ed requirements. Political science majors regularly are encouraged to take Gen Ed courses that address global topics and international issues.

- g. Attach a detailed assessment plan including three to five specific program student learning outcomes, means or instructional measures to assess each outcome, identify program courses where learning will be assessed, and performance standards or criteria for success which demonstrate student learning for each outcome. (Examples for assessment plans/curriculum mapping can be found at the Office of Assessment and Institutional Effectiveness web page.)

Arkansas Tech University
Proposal for Change in Program
Assessment Form

Our Mission

Arkansas Tech University, a state-supported institution of higher education, is dedicated to nurturing scholastic development, integrity, and professionalism. The University offers a wide range of traditional and innovative programs which provide a solid educational foundation for life-long learning to a diverse community of learners.

Provide an answer for each question. Your answers are to be typed single spaced.

- a. How does the program change fit with the university mission? The change to the Pre-Law minor is a minor change. Due to course scheduling problems, the current requirements have been difficult for students to meet, thus often requiring substitutions. The change will offer students more options and thus enable us to continue to offer a Pre-Law minor that contributes to scholastic and professional development and which provides a solid and appropriate foundation for law school.
- b. If this change in the program is mandated by an accrediting or certifying agency, include the directive. If not, state not applicable. Not applicable.
- c. How will the program change impact learning for students enrolled in this program? One block of courses for the Pre-Law minor demands the completion of one course from a short list of two courses. One of those courses, HIST 3023, is rarely taught due to the departure of the faculty member who taught it. The other course, HIST 4183, is offered once every two years. The result is a requirement which is difficult for students to meet, and faculty advisors must often make substitutions on degree audits. The reason for the proposed change is to address this scheduling problem, not to address student learning.
- d. What will students demonstrate, represent, or produce to provide evidence of their learning once they complete the program? Not applicable. Student learning for minor programs is not assessed.
- e. Provide an example or examples of student learning assessment evidence which supports the changes in the program. Not applicable. Student learning for minor programs is not assessed.
- f. How does this course fit in the current state of the discipline? Include Arkansas institutional comparisons. If Arkansas educational institutions do not have the course or program provide comparative examples from regional educational institutions. UCA, ASU, and UAF do not offer pre-law majors or minors. UALR offers a legal-studies minor that is analogous to our pre-law minor and for which students simply take a certain number of courses from a long list of optional courses. The change to our minor will make it similar to UALR's minor.

This change was made because the BDA program currently requires 7 hours of BDA electives. The only way the students can get that last hour is to use a variable credit internship course. However, the catalog allows a maximum of 3 hours of internship credit. Until a more satisfactory number of elective hours can be arranged through the normal curriculum process, changing this course to a variable credit option allows students to take a one-hour Special Topics course to fulfill that last hour of BDA elective credit. This approach complies with the three hour limit on internship credit. Faculty plan to offer this course with topics covering extended aspects of techniques or software applications covered in courses, techniques or software applications not covered in courses at all, or new developments from the field.

Note from Computer and Information Science:

We're correcting the Curriculum Matrix for Information Systems (Fall Start) to show that COMS3243 Data Mining is expected to be taken in the Junior Spring semester. The current matrix has COMS3243 in the Junior Fall Semester but we've always taught COMS3243 in the spring. In order to make this correction, we need to move MGMT3003 from the Junior Spring Semester to the Junior Fall Semester. We're not making any course changes, just swapping the semesters in the Matrix for COMS3243 and MGMT3003. The only possible effect on MGMT3003 would be a shift in the number of students enrolled in a given semester (possibly fewer in the spring and more in the fall).

The Conservation course has suffered from low student enrollment (sometimes causing cancelation). The proposed change is designed to gain a larger pool of students enrolling in the course. The reason for the previous prerequisite was to ensure that students enrolled in conservation have some presentation skills since conservation is a discussion oriented course. a. Accreditation Directive: N/A

Before the Biology Program offered the new anatomy and physiology I and II sequence (BIOL 2404, 2414) in the spring of 2013 to serve nursing and other health-related majors, those students took this course. The prerequisites were designed to accommodate these students in addition to the biology majors. a. If this course is mandated by an accrediting or certifying agency, include the directive. If not, state not applicable.

b. Explain the rationale for the cosmetic course change.

a. Accreditation Directive: N/A

b. Rationale: This cosmetic change for evolutionary biology is proposed to increase student access to the course. We propose to eliminate Genetics (BIOL 3034) as a pre-requisite and replace it with three lower-level BIOL courses (Principles of Biology, BIOL 1114; Principles of Zoology, BIOL 2124; and Principles of Botany, BIOL 2134).

We consider evolution to be a major unifying theme of biology, yet the Evolutionary Biology Course has suffered from low student enrollment (sometimes causing cancelation). The proposed change is designed to gain a larger pool of students enrolling in the course by not requiring an upper-level pre-requisite. We also anticipate that it should help improve departmental performance on assessment measures like the Major Field Assessment Test in Biology. This past fall and spring, graduating seniors answered 34 and 41% correctly for the assessment indicator including evolution on this exam. We think that we can do better. Finally, this change will better align the Evolutionary Biology course with pre-requisites in more of the other biology upper level classes.

Subject: RE: cosmetic change-nursing

Question- I understand the cosmetic change for the updated NURN 4002 description. The problem is the RN-BSN coordinator told me there is a problem listing NURN 4002 as a practicum course that is not. This is the way this course has been taught since inception, but apparently there has been a discrepancy in the catalog the whole time. I don't teach in the RN-BSN program so I assumed when they have reviewed course descriptions in past it was okay. We have our accreditation site visit in the fall. Is there anyway we can take out the one word practicum from NURN 4002 since technically it has been taught this way and is in banner as a lecture? If not we will just hope they don't ask during our visit. Sorry for the headache. If it's any consolation it gives me one too.

Shelly:

I have received the cosmetic change for NURN 4002. It will be included in the cosmetic change process in August, 2016. This change will not appear in the 2016-17 catalog. The change would appear in 2017-18 catalog when approved in August.

In addition, Karen Riddell indicated you wanted to modify the course description slightly for NURN 4034 Leadership and Management in Professional Practice. Please submit a request for cosmetic change by July 1 to update this course.

Thanks.
